Renewal of recognition of aided and unaided Schools

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (SSM)- The Deputy Director of Department of Public Instruction in a press release has notified the managements of all the aided and unaided Primary and High Schools in the district limits to renew their recognition.

Those Schools whose recognition has expired in the academic year 2022-23 must get it renewed in the prescribed software by submitting the proposal to the Department. Though the Department had already notified about the renewal process and time limit, many Schools have neglected to submit any proposals or a few Schools have submitted incomplete proposals to the Department which have been rejected. However, as the deadline is over, the managements of those Schools must get the recognition renewed at the earliest. Several chances are being provided by the Department to the Schools keeping the children's education in mind. Now the last date to submit the proposal for the renewal is Aug. 12 through Sakshama Pradhikara by logging on to http://sakshamakarnataka.org/.

Those SSLC students who are studying in these aided or unaided Schools which have not renewed their recognition will be tagged to a nearby Government-approved School.

Meanwhile, the Schools will be held responsible for the RTE fee reimbursement. The Department will take necessary action against those aided and unaided Primary and High Schools that fail to renew their recognition.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Authorities can enlist the help of self help groups in rural areas for activities such as identification of littering hotspots, segregation of waste at source, and increased door-to-door collection. A penalty structure in bye-laws for spot-fining can help in effective enforcement of Plastic Waste Management (PWM) Rules. Legacy plastic waste can be managed through quantifying and recovering plastic from the sites involving stakeholders such as industries and recyclers that are registered with Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB). Littered plastic waste in water bodies can be managed by identifying ingress points in drains, installation of floating nets and phased plan for cleaning, collection and disposal of wastes.

Responsible management of Single Use Plastic (SUP) must be actively promoted by authorities in tourist spots, religious and cultural hubs, weekly markets and urban sprawls. Civic bodies must engage with general public to increase awareness. More efforts are needed towards capacity building for repurposing and reuse of plastic packaging. For sustainable PWM, all stakeholders from the private and public sectors as well as communities must adopt the ethos of circular economy. That is the only effective way to eliminate waste, regenerate natural ecosystems, and extend the life of materials and goods. — Srinivasulu, Member Secretary, KSPCB, in Deccan Herald

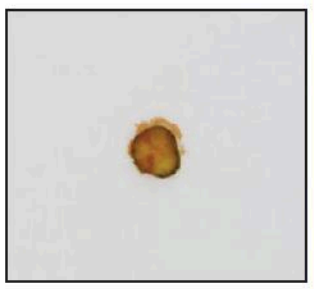
These feathered locusts cause the cutest plague

Cape Town: To most of the world, the red-billed quelea is a cute, sparrow-like bird native to Sub-Saharan Africa, but to the farmers of the regions that this little creature calls home, it is a pest capable of wiping out their crops.

There is a very good reason why the red-billed quelea is popularly known as Africa's feathered locust. This small, adorable bird eats about four grams of plant seeds per day, which doesn't sound like much, but when you consider that it feeds in flocks of millions of individuals, the math starts to get pretty scary for farmers and those who depend on their crops. The tiny red-billed quelea fly in clouds of millions of individuals, descending upon their "prey" in unison, with the birds that run out of food at the rear of the pack flying over the entire group to take the lead as they move on to their next victims, thus creating the illusion of a rolling, morphing cloud.

This is an artwork worth 6,200 dollars



Auckland: A New Zealand art gallery recently sparked controversy for displaying a controversial artwork consisting of a pickled cucumber slice stuck to the ceiling.

Titled 'Pickle', the thought-provoking artwork belongs to Australian artist Matthew Griffin and is currently on display at the Michael Lett Gallery in Auckland. It consists of a ketchup-smeared pickled cucumber slice out of a McDonald's cheeseburger stuck to the ceiling of the art gallery it is exhibited in.

The bizarre artwork is being described by the gallery as a deliberately "provocative gesture" designed to question what has value. Moore himself appears to think his creation has decent value, as it comes with a price tag of 10,000 New Zealand dollars (6,200 dollars).

Horticulture Dept. invites applications from farmers

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (SSM) - The Department of Horticulture has invited applications from farmers to avail benefits provided by the Central Government under Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchai Yojana (PMKSY) for the year 2022-23.

PMKSY aims to ensure access to some means of protective irrigation to all agricultural farms across the country and also the 'per drop more crop' programme, thus bringing rural prosperity.

SC and ST farmers who have installed drip and sprinkle irrigation may avail 90 percent financial aid for two hectare land while for the farmers belonging to other communities can avail 75 percent financial assistance.

The Centre has sanctioned 45 percent financial help to all the farmers belonging to any community with 2 to 5 hectare land.

For those farmers who grow vegetables and commercial flowers within two hectare land will also be given financial aid. Farmers cultivating coffee, tea and rubber will be not be given any financial help.

Beneficiaries must only grow horticultural crops after micro irrigation installation. Applicants must have their own irrigation system and sufficient water supply for micro irrigation. Those farmers who do not have any irrigation system must get an approval letter from other farmers.

REALLY...?

- Gingerbread men are modelled on Guy Fawkes: After the Gunpowder Plot in 1605, a new tradition spread through England. The biscuit figures sold at fairs were traditionally made in the likeness of Catholic saints, but after Guy Fawkes' foiled attempt to blow up Parliament, the bonfire celebrations that followed featured figures of him. People could now show their support for the Protestant cause by eating the papist villain. Hence, the association of gingerbread with Bonfire Night.

Make two-way traffic rule at Ring Road Under-bridges

Sir,

The recent tragic accident on Outer Ring Road (ORR), near GRS Fantasy Park, where a woman was fatally knocked down by a trailer lorry is an eye-opener to all. ORR has many Railway Under-bridges, which incidentally has only one pass through, due to which service roads attached therein are incomplete for want of another opening.

Also, unconventional intersections for a right turn at these points is proving a nightmare. For example, the Railway Under-bridge near Unnathinagar, wherein motorists intending to take a right turn have to wait under the bridge for vehicles from opposite direction to pass by, but the vehicles coming from behind honk endlessly and even may bang from behind. If the motorist tries to manoeuvre, there are chances of vehicles coming from opposite direction hitting them. This is because Railway Under-bridges do not have a second opening, in spite of the road being built around two decades ago.

It may be recalled here that our MP Pratap Simha in recent past had indicated that the Union Government has cleared the work of opening of Railway Under-bridges on ORR, still there is no sign of progress. It is high time that authorities concerned look into this and save the lives.

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (GA&DM)- As a first step towards issuing house Title Deeds to 377 poor families, Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra handed over 2 acres of land in Manjunathapura (Gokulam 4th Stage) and one acre land in Kumbarakoppal Colony (P.K. Sanatorium slum) to Karnataka Slum Development Board at the MCC's Ashraya Section Office near Cheluvamba Park in Vontikoppal here on Thursday.

Pourakarmikas to be appointed soon: ZP CEO

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (GA&DM)- Maintaining that most of the issues concerning Pourakarmikas have been addressed, ZP CEO B.R. Poornima said that vacant Pourakarmika posts in Government Departments will be filled up in a few months. She was speaking at the Pourakarmika Grievances Meet held at the ZP Hall here on Wednesday.

Soon as the meeting began, Pourakarmika Association President D.R. Raju said that there are 323 Pourakarmikas serving in 256 Gram Panchayats of the district. Maintaining that the Pourakarmikas are serving overtime, he alleged that most of them are not getting timely salaries despite doing hard work all throughout the day. Noting that only 95 Pourakarmikas are on regular rolls, while the rest 228 are serving on contract basis, Raju wanted the Government to treat Pourakarmikas as Corona Warriors and give them due facilities.

Raju also sought issuance of Title Deeds to Pourakarmika house owners residing atop Chamundi Hill for the past 40 years.

The ZP CEO said that the 1993 Panchayat Raj Act has stipulated Pourakarmikas based on the population of local area. The resolution passed at this meeting regarding appointment of Pourakarmikas will be forwarded to the Government, she said adding that the Government will also be sought on changing rules regarding Pourakarmika-population ratio. She also directed the officials to identify Government land coming under the nearest Gram Panchayat if houses cannot be distributed atop the Hill.

ZP Deputy Secretary Dr. M. Krishnaraju said that Pourakarmika children should utilise all Government benefits and get higher education. Asking the Pourakarmikas to use safety gears while on work, he called upon them to get regular health check-ups at PHCs.

Aam Aadmi Party only hope for common man: Bhaskar Rao

Party workers take out padayatra as part of membership campaign

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (MTY&DM)- Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) State Vice-President and former IPS Officer Bhaskar Rao has called upon party workers to work hard for strengthening the party in an organised manner. He was speaking after inaugurating the Party's new office near Chamundipuram Circle here on Thursday.

Asserting that there is no place for mere time-spenders in the party, Bhaskar Rao, who had also served as Mysuru City Police Commissioner 15 years ago, said that the people were fed up with the misrule of Congress, BJP and JD(S) and that AAP is the only hope for the common man.

Bemoaning that party organisation in Mysuru is not up to the mark, he stressed on the need for the party workers to shun their prestige and work for the party.

In order to test the political knowledge of party workers, Bhaskar Rao questioned how many Assembly Constituencies are there in Mysuru, when some said six. A perplexed Rao asked to name the six Constituencies, when there was no response. Ultimately, the party leaders on stage read out the names of the four city Assembly segments, including Chamundeshwari.

Senior AAP leader Padma said that the party activities began in Mysuru in 2013, when only a handful of members were there. But now AAP has hundreds of members and thousands more are expected to join the party in coming days, she said adding that many leaders from other parties are willing to join AAP. The party is gearing up for next year's Assembly polls, she added.

Later, a party meeting was held at Aradhya Bhavan on JLB road. Earlier, the party workers took out a padayatra in Chamundipuram, Vidyaranyapuram and JLB road as part of membership campaign.

Party District President Saragur Nataraj too addressed the workers. Party leaders Mahadevaiah, Malini and others were present.

BJP's Chinchansur elected unopposed to Legislative Council

Baburao Chinchansur

Bengaluru, Aug. 5 (KMS &DM)- BJP candidate Baburao Chinchansur has been elected unopposed to the lone vacant seat in the Legislative Council.

The seat had fallen vacant following the resignation of C.M. Ibrahim, who quit the Congress to join JD(S) a few months ago. Although the Election Commission had set Aug.11 as the date of polling to elect the Council member, Chinchansur was declared elected unopposed on Thursday as no other candidate, either from the Congress or JD(S) filed nomination before the deadline (Aug.4). The two Opposition parties had apparently not fielded their candidates as BJP had enough numerical strength to win the polls. The tenure of Chinchansur, a former Minister and a senior BJP leader from Yadgir district, will end on June 17, 2024.

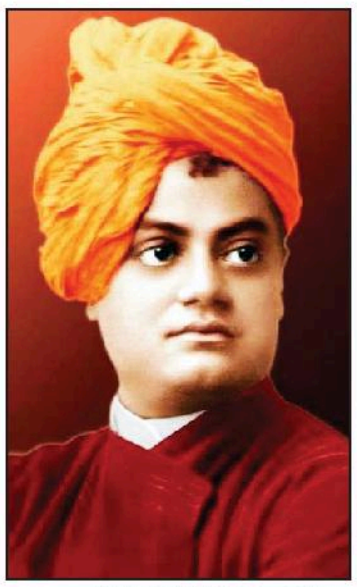
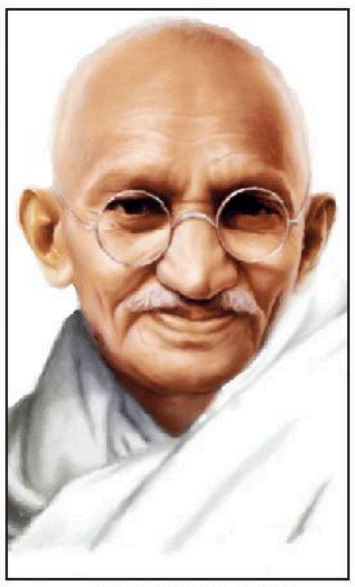
Swami Vivekananda's vision for future of India, as I understand -1

Recently I was invited by Swami Muktidanandaji, head of Ramakrishna Ashram, Mysuru, to speak on Swami Vivekananda's vision for India at the Ramakrishna Institute of Moral and Spiritual Education (RIMSE), Yadavagiri. Produced below is an extract of that talk I thought of sharing with 'Star of Mysore' readers:



Swami Vivekananda



Mahatma Gandhi

The subject of my talk is indeed very much relevant to present day India, 120 years after Swami Vivekananda passed away. Probably, most of the time, he was talking of India after him, the Future India.

He was a Hindu Monk of Himalayan heights. He was a spiritual bridge between 19th and early 20th century for India, but after his four years of sojourn in America, England and Europe, he became an acknowledged Hindu Spiritual Guru for those who are seekers of truth.

I may not be wrong if I say that in India during late 19th century and 20th century, people of this country, specially Hindus, were aspiring for two kinds of salvation. One is Spiritual salvation and another Political salvation. It was a time when Britishers were ruling us. India as a country was under both spiritual and political eclipse. India was looking for a new dawn of freedom and spiritual revival.

It was at this period of doubts and uncertainty about Hindu religion and political slavery, the providence blessed this country with two great souls, each with separate goals. If Mahatma Gandhi was a political bridge between 19th and 20th century India, Swami Vivekananda was the spiritual bridge.

Looking back today, we could proudly acknowledge the role played by these two extraordinary Indians, one in awakening the spiritual and religious consciousness among the people and the other in creating political awareness among the people. No wonder, for the first time people in thousands participated in Freedom Movement. It was a success story for both. If Swami Vivekananda gave us Sri Ramakrishna Ashram and Mutt, a spiritual power house for seekers of divine power and truth, Gandhiji helped us gain freedom.

Having said this let me now come to the subject proper, The Vision of Future India according to Swami Vivekananda. As we know Swami Vivekananda was famously known as the 'Wandering Monk.'

It is said he travelled across India for 10 long years as a young Sanyasi, blessed by his Spiritual Guru, the Master, Sri Ramakrishna Paramahamsa. He was blessed with a magnetic personality and would attract anyone who came in contact with him with his power of speech. In fact, he was a visionary Monk who could probably see the future. So much so, he had impressed two celebrities in the West by recalling their past and predicting the positive side of the future. Did he have mystical powers? I do not know.

Of course, we know he was catapulted to the world's stage following his famous speech at the World Parliament of Religions at Chicago in 1893. Since then, his concern for the future of India found expression in all his speeches, letters and even activities.

The first of these concerns we find in his well-documented meeting with the Father of Indian Industry Jamsetji Tata, aboard a ship that carried both of them to America.

Jamsetji Tata told Swami Vivekananda about his project of setting up a steel plant and mentioned of the purpose of his visit to America for buying required machines etc. It was at this point Swami Vivekananda, aged about 30, told Jamsetji Tata that instead of importing machines from abroad, he should manufacture them in India. Swamiji also impressed upon Jamsetji Tata the need for practising asceticism and humanism of India along with its industrialisation.

It was this meeting that inspired Jamsetji Tata, though after many years, to establish a research institute of Science which finally materialised in Bengaluru, Tata Institute of Science, now known as Indian Institute of Science (IISc). This, therefore, was the vision of Swami Vivekananda for India. And Jamsetji Tata with a little help from the then Maharaja of Mysore Krishnaraja Wadiyar IV, who gave 372 acres of land for the purpose, free of cost, made that vision of Swamiji a reality. No wonder if there is one industrial house known for its ethical practice, it is Tatas.

Swamiji's vision of future India was prosperity and progress of its ordinary millions. Sadly it did not happen even after 120 years of his passing away. Of course, we see now some signs of Swamiji's vision materialising in this regard following government schemes meant exclusively for the poor and the deprived classes, say BPL Card holders.

Many are of the opinion that Swamiji, being a spiritual person, a proponent of Vedanta, did not bother about the mundane concerns of the people like freedom from foreign rule and poverty alleviation. That was absolutely wrong. Mahatma Gandhi gave a thrust for the freedom movement. Mahatma Gandhi came to India, after making news in South Africa, only in 1915. But before his arrival, Swamiji had passed away in 1902. However, he had made the most important prediction that has already come true. Freedom of India.

He had said in early 1900 India would be free within the next 50 years under unforeseen circumstances. And as predicted we got independence in 1947. Some of Swami Vivekananda's clarion calls to the seekers of truth and freedom are inspirational for future India. Like for example:

• Arise, awake and stop not till the goal is reached (from Veda).

• Anything that makes you weak physically, intellectually and spiritually, reject as poison.

• Do not lower your goals to the level of your abilities. Instead raise your abilities to the height of your goals.

• Take up one idea. Make that one idea your life, think of it, dream of it, live on that idea. This is the way to success.

• You are the architect of your own destiny. (ನಿನ್ನ ಬಾಳಿನ ಶಿಲ್ಪಿ ನೀನೆ)

• Knowledge is power. And practice is key to it.

Here, Swamiji talks of ideas that ignite a man's mind. It could be political, spiritual, social or economical. Swamiji's words show us the way to success. Probably, all our politicians during the British rule, from Gandhiji, Savarkar, Subhas Chandra Bose and many patriots and freedom fighters were inspired by the preachings of Swamiji.

We must also remember of the four paths for our salvation namely, Jnana Marga, Bhakti Marga, Yoga Marga and Karma Marga. He gave special stress on Karma Marga, Path of Duty, for Political and Spiritual salvation. I think Swamiji had our country's freedom in mind when he made this visionary statement.

Large-scale participation of students, educational institutions, researchers, faculty members, industry representatives and MSMEs is an opportunity to learn from each other," the PM noted.

Mysuru Start-Up Pavilion and Conclave will help nurture the spirit of innovation and entrepreneurship among the youths in the current Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav. "May the conclave come up with a practical roadmap for the larger good. I am sure that the launch of Protean Cloud Technology will help leverage technology to meet the growing aspirations of people in rural areas," PM Modi said.

Mysuru's scope defined

After PM Modi's address, Principal Secretary, Department of IT, BT and Science and Technology Dr. E.V. Ramana Reddy and Adviser and Head, Innovation and Entrepreneurship-National Science & Technology Entrepreneurship Development Board, Department of Science and Technology Dr. Anita Gupta addressed the gathering. Mysuru Vision-2030: What, why and when for Mysuru

'Free up 12,000 acres of land from real estate lobby and hand it over to industries, firms'

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (RK&BCT)- Start-Ups in Mysuru need a strong ecosystem and Mysuru is an ideal location, said Skanray Technologies Founder and Managing Director Vishwaprasad Alva. He was addressing the inaugural session of the three-day summit Mysuru Start-Up Pavilion and Conclave that began at SJCE-STEP this morning.

Speaking on the topic of "Mysuru Vision-2030: What, why and when for Mysuru," he said, "Start-Ups need a good and stable supply chain, human resource capital, calm research and development environment where they can nurture innovation and thoughts. Mysuru is bound to grow and our duty is to ensure that it does not grow in a haphazard manner."

Urging the citizens of Mysuru and communities to join hands with the policymakers and influencers to make Mysuru grow in a structured way, Alva said that everyone must work towards 'Namma Mysuru Namma Hemme — Swachha, Shuddha, Samruddha' (Our Mysuru our pride — Clean, pure and prosperous.)

Over 150 Start-Up and MSME stalls are set up at three-day Mysuru Start-Up Pavilion and Conclave that began at SJCE-STEP this morning.

Elaborating on the availability of land in Mysuru, Alva said there is no dearth of land in Mysuru. "12,000 acres of unused land is lying in Mysuru outside the city limits which is a heritage area. This land was acquired in 1990 and these lands are at present held by the real estate lobby. This land can be freed up and handed over to industries, knowledge-based firms and companies to set up their base," he said.

If Mysuru provides the infrastructure, all the MNCs and international conglomerates will come here in no time, he added.

In his address, Titular head of Mysore royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar said that Mysuru has immense scope for Start-Ups and companies that deal with cyber security. "The climate, infrastructure, educational institutions, availability of land, the culture of innovation and inquisitiveness — all these are available in abundance in Mysuru," he said.

Recalling the contribution of Wadiyars of Mysore who had a vision for Mysuru decades ago had laid a firm foundation for education, healthcare, industry, transport and also water availability, he said all these factors have contributed to the development of Mysuru as a Start-Up and a cyber security hub. "The Mysuru Start-Up Pavilion and Conclave is a key economic driver for Mysuru," he explained.

Special postal cover

Srinivas Varadarajan, Managing Director and CEO of Vigyanlabs Innovations also spoke. On occasion, S. Rajendra Kumar, Chief Post Master General, Karnataka Circle, unveiled the special postal cover to commemorate the event. A logo on CloudTech was also launched.

Founder and Global Chairman of World Hindu Foundation Swamy Vigyananda, Chief Executive of SJCE-STEP B. Shivashankar and others were present.

'Widen Railway Underpasses on Ring Road'

Mysuru, Aug. 5 (MTY&DM)- Asserting that the Railway Underpasses on the Ring Road are accident-prone due to their unscientific nature, JD(S) activists led by Corporator K.V. Sridhar staged a demonstration near the Underpass of Mysuru-Arasikere Railway track on Ring Road, close to Hotel Royal Inn Junction on KRS Road, this morning. They sought widening of the Underpass stretches in order to avoid frequent and fatal accidents.

Maintaining that Underpasses were built in an improper manner over two decades ago, Corporator Sridhar said that the roads at Underpasses on Ring Road at Arasikere Railway track, Belavatha and near RBI are very narrow.

Pointing out that the four-lane Ring Road narrows down to two-lane at the Underpasses which pose danger to motorists, especially two-wheeler riders, he said that frequent accidents at these stretches leading to loss of lives in some cases are being reported almost every other day. But despite several representations seeking widening of the Underpass stretches to the District Administration, Railways and other Departments concerned, nothing has been done to rectify these unscientific stretches on this important road, which is widely used by motorists.

Noting that thousands of vehicles travel daily on the ever busy Ring Road that connects KRS Road with Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway at Manipal Hospitals junction, he urged the authorities to take immediate measures to expand the Underpass stretches in the interests of motorists and to reduce traffic jams.

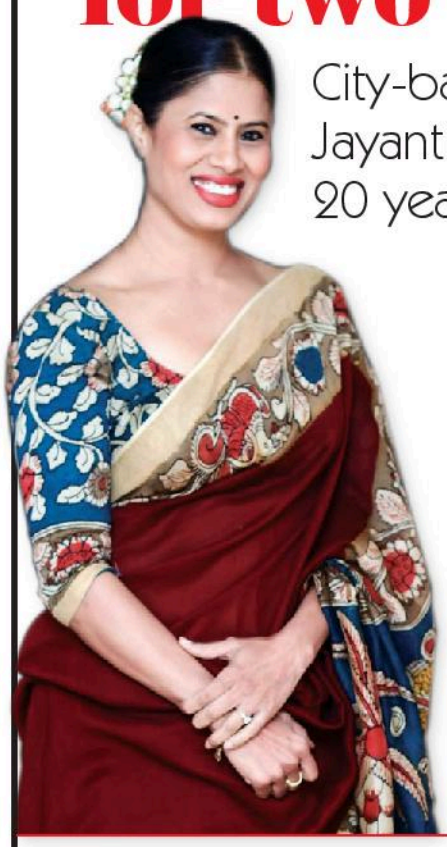
Danger lurks on ORR Service Road near Bogadi Signal

A portion of the Service Road, about 2 kms from Bogadi Signal towards Nanjangud Main Road, has caved-in and is posing danger to the public, especially motorists during dark hours. A morning walker, who sent a few photographs to Star of Mysore this morning, said that the caved-in portion is widening day-by-day and sooner or later, the stretch of the Service Road will be cut off for public use with incessant rains. It is not known whether the portion of the road was dug up to construct a manhole or it caved-in due to rains. Also, some of the streetlight poles on the same stretch are slanting dangerously. Authorities concerned are urged to rectify them immediately.

Weaving Magic for two decades

City-based designer Jayanthi Ballal completes 20 years in fashion industry



Watch out for Mysore Fashion Week - 2022

From a tiny workshop with one masterji and an assistant in Azeez Sait Nagar and a handful of clients, to a high-end boutique with about a dozen craftsmen, a list of elite clientele, her own label and Mysore Fashion Week under her belt, it has been a long journey for the city-based designer Jayanthi Ballal.

Two decades in fashion industry must feel amazing, isn't it? I ask. 'Yes, amazing but challenging at the same time; it has been one hell of a journey,' replies the fashion entrepreneur who is credited with putting Mysuru on India's fashion map.

She fondly recalls the days when she was called 'tailor aunty who took measurements' and charged Rs. 40 for the blouse stitching.

'I had the starting trouble as my in-laws were conservative. It was a big no for women in the family to work outside, but with my husband's support, I was able to fight all odds and set on a hitherto unknown journey,' tells Jayanthi.

'It was easier to cross the hurdles at home, but the bigger challenge was people's attitude towards this industry. They didn't understand fashion but now Mysureans are more receptive to change, and it is easier for new designers to make their mark,' she adds.

Gradually, the list of her clients increased and within no time she was designing a variety of ethnic clothes. She had exotic designs but nowhere to showcase her creations. As a result, the Model Hunt was started to groom young boys and girls to walk the ramp which provided a ready platform for not only Jayanthi but also other designers in the city to showcase and promote their creations.

Many of her models later went on to participate in various fashion shows across the country and also got opportunities in the modelling and film industry.

Soon a brand-new boutique named Needle Works came up. 'But within a couple of years, many new boutiques came up in the neighbourhood with similar sounding names, so I decided to change the name and give it my own label,' says Jayanthi with pride.

One thing led to another. Soon Jayanthi, who specialises in traditional clothing, had clients from outside Mysuru which gave birth to an idea to do something for the city and thus came Mysore Fashion Week.

A few names who debuted in Mysore Fashion Week later went on to showcase their creations in renowned fashion shows across the world and style celebrities. To mention a few — Sanjukta Dutta from Assam, Arvind Ampula from Hyderabad, Rajyalakshmi Gubba from Hyderabad and Robert Naorem, the make-up artist.

'I'm humbled to be a part of their phenomenal journey,' signs off Jayanthi.

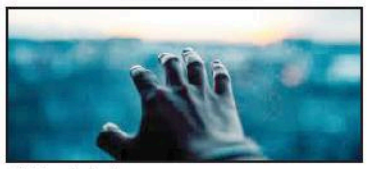
WORD OF THE DAY

Ineffable



Pronunciation: in-EFF-uh-bul.
Meaning: Ineffable is used to describe something that is indescribable or unspeakable and that cannot be expressed in words. It is also used for things which are taboo and are not to be uttered.
Origin: "Every tone was a testimony against slavery, and a prayer to God for deliverance from chains. The hearing of those wild notes always depressed my spirit, and filled me with ineffable sadness," wrote Frederick Douglass in his autobiography. Reading Douglass's words, it's clear that ineffable means "indescribable" or "unspeakable." And when we break the word down to its Latin roots, we see how those meanings came about. Ineffable comes from ineffābilis, which joins the prefix in-, meaning "not," with the adjective effābilis, meaning "capable of being expressed." Effābilis comes from effārī, "to speak out," which in turn comes from ex- and fārī, meaning "to speak."
Example: "But onstage alone, talking to a crowd, he's smooth as can be. A seductive presence, he has that ineffable quality of stardom: a preternatural ability to connect." — Jason Zinoman

THE ODD WORD

Ibidine
Pertaining to the ibis.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

It's anyone's call

Meaning: The expression "It's anyone's call" explains a situation in which any possible outcome is as likely as the next, where it is almost impossible to predict what will happen.
Origin: The phrase most likely started from a sports game where a ref had to "make a call", meaning he had to make a 'verdict'.
Example: "The score is so close that the game really is anyone's call."
